CREATING A LIFE OF JOY

The purpose of life is expansion... expansion of ideas, expansion of possibilities, expansion of the species as a whole. Your part in this expansion is to be who you uniquely are. If we were all the same, if we all thought and acted the same, there would be no new ideas and no expansion.

You are here to create your life, in any way you want. And in that expression of Who You Really Are, you bless everyone around you and the world at large. When you get in touch with the Guidance Within, and have some idea of what you're here to do or, more accurately, who you're here to BE, then life takes on more meaning, passion, and joy.

The real juice of life is in creating new ideas, new circumstances, new situations. If the purpose of life was to collect the most money and material possessions, why would accomplished authors or actors continue to produce books and films? Because the joy in life isn't in the accumulation of things, it's in the act of creating the circumstances that result in things wanted. So find ways in your life to creatively express who you are and what your truth is; while you're busy living in joy, the Universe will line up all the things that would feel joyful to you, including the freedom of lots of money and opportunity.

One of the things you can choose to create in your life is love. Love isn't something that happens to you, it's something you choose to express and envelope yourself in. Love has a vibration which underlies and permeates everything else in the universe, so when you activate the vibration of Love, you're influencing everything else in your life. All of the better-feeling emotions resonate with Love: happiness, joy, fulfillment, peace, appreciation, freedom, passion, etc. I offer workshops and classes (including the teleclass below) in activating the Love Vibration because it's the mother of all vibrations, and the ultimate expression of your life.

In the "Conversations with God" book series, Neale Donald Walsch puts the quest for unique expression in this way:

Always look to be the next grandest version of the greatest vision you ever held about yourself.

Readers' Section

This came from a reader who wanted to reconnect with her Life's Path and her Soul again: I'm allowing finances to guide me instead of Divine Guidance. I want to turn that around... I lost my job (layoff) BUT IT WAS A BLESSING -- I am attempting right now to just pay the bills but it took a couple of weeks of "tight" money situations. My whole life has been that way -- just as I'm comfortable or have some sense of security, whether in love, relationships, career, it immediately changes from a feeling of good to bad. I know I need to connect with my Soul or Spirit to show me what my truth is and start to live it fully. I want to start moving out of my comfort zone and start to move up.

What she's expressing here is very common, and eventually we all go through this yearning for more. If we ignore this Call of the Soul, it becomes more insistent and we feel more uncomfortable living the mundane life.

The only way to handle this is to give in -- give in to that yearning you are feeling. Your Soul knows what your life's blueprint is, and it has been guiding you since before you were born. There is a wiser, immortal part of you that knows why you are here. Isn't that great? There's a Higher Consciousness that can give you the answer to any question you have... all you have to do is listen to the guidance. The trick is that this Higher Consciousness usually speaks in a whisper that can only be heard when you've accessed the quiet space inside of you. So find some time to get quiet. Breathe deeply and slowly; it relaxes you and helps the chatter in your mind to stop. Think of a life question you have or a situation you'd like guidance with. Then notice the intuitions and feelings that arise from that still, quiet space inside.

Once you are aware of how your Soul communicates with you, it becomes clearer and easier to tap into that communication. As you forge a stronger communication channel with your Inner Guidance, this will be the voice you will turn to more and more often, instead of all the outside voices that really don't know who YOU are and what YOU came here to do. It's a process. Trust and enjoy the process.
