Fine tuning the decision-making process

When faced with a decision, most people try to choose between Choice A or Choice B (and sometimes more), and they go about weighing the pros and cons, making lists of the positive and negative aspects of each choice. What this method doesn't take into account is getting your Soul's input, or Divine Guidance. When you use universal criteria in making decisions, you can rest easy knowing that things will work out just right for you, regardless of how it seems in the moment.

The first step of this process is to envision the life you want to have, and get into the feeling-space of it. If you would like to live in a certain area, doing certain activities every day, surrounded by friends and loved ones, then envision that. How does that life feel? What words would you use to describe the emotions you feel as you're envisioning your dreamed-of life? Happy... loved and loving... fulfilled... relaxed... free... prosperous... etc.

Now, from that emotional vibration, ask your question. You will always get a gut or intuitive answer as to what your next step should be. And the more you do this process, the stronger those gut reactions will be. This step, however, may not be the most comfortable at the time, or may even lead to something unwanted in the short-term, but it will be the quickest and most direct route to that which you are asking for. This step IS the answer to "How do I get to my dream life?"

For example, I know someone who was faced with a decision between two jobs, and when looking at both jobs from a pros-and-cons standpoint, they were nearly identical. I encouraged her to get back into the feeling-space of her dreamed-of life, and then to ask the Universe for guidance on which job to take. Her gut told her immediately which job to accept (Job B), and she did. Six months later, she was laid off, something that she definitely didn't want to have happen. But because of that layoff, she had time to explore some other opportunities which eventually led her right to the path of her Dream Life -- something that could not have happened if she'd taken Job A.

That's how the Universe works -- if we're clear in our vibration of where we're going, and let our intuition lead us. Oh yeah -- having faith in the process speeds it along, too.

So often we lose faith in the Universe when we feel we're being led down a path, then that path seemingly goes wrong. As long as you're not muddying the picture with confusion about where you are and where you're going, you can rest assured that the Universe (or your Soul, or God, or whatever you term your Higher Power) has it all under control.

The final step in this process, then, is to trust that you are being guided and protected. Do not fight against things happening, but constantly refocus on your dream.

The icing on the cake is to just have fun and enjoy as much of each day as you can, "living in the moment" as they say, knowing that there's something Bigger and Wiser taking care of all the details for you.
